Inter-university Consortium for Political & Social Research (ICPSR)

- Domain Repository for the Social & Behavioral Sciences
- International consortium of more than 760 academic institutions and research organizations
- 50+ years of distributing social and behavioral science research data, including government data
- Largest social science data archive in the world

Archiving Data at ICPSR Ensures Access Now and for the Future

- Data curation
- Long-Term Preservation
- Maximized Access
- Protection of Confidentiality
- Data Attribution
- Usage Information
- User Support

Large catalog of government data currently archived at ICPSR

Examples:

- Census data
- Current Population Survey
- American Housing Survey
- Decennial Censuses
- Economic Censuses
- Criminal justice data
- National Center for Education Statistics
- Voting records

About DataLumos

DataLumos is an open data repository at ICPSR specifically designated for government data in the social sciences for which there is concern about its long-term availability or discoverability.

Increased Outreach

ICPSR has received a grant from the Annie E. Casey Foundation to support the work of DataLumos, with a special emphasis on reaching out to various groups of stakeholders to identify valuable data resources and prioritize their future accessibility.

Your answer

DataLumos is an ICPSR archive for valuable government data resources. ICPSR has a long commitment to safekeeping and disseminating US government and other social science data. DataLumos accepts deposits of public data resources from the community and recommendations of public data resources that ICPSR itself might add to DataLumos.

Project Description

Project Title: 2013-14 Civil Rights Data Collection (CRDC)

Summary:

Since 1968, the CRDC, formerly the Elementary and Secondary School Survey, has collected data on key education and civil rights issues in our nation's public schools for use by the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights (OCR) in its enforcement and monitoring efforts, by other Department of Education offices and federal agencies, and by policymakers and researchers outside the Department of Education. The CRDC collects information about school characteristics and about programs, services, and outcomes for students. Most student data are disaggregated by race/ethnicity, sex, limited English proficiency (LEP), and disability.

The CRDC is a biennial survey (i.e., it is conducted every other school year), and response to the survey is required by law. The 2013–14 CRDC collected data from the universe of all public school districts, also referred to as local education agencies (LEAs), and schools, including long-term secure juvenile justice facilities, charter schools, alternative schools, and schools serving students with disabilities. Data were collected for the 2013–14 school year. Data collection began in April 2015 and ended on January 8, 2016.

The CRDC data are collected pursuant to the 1980 Department of Education Organization Act and 34 CFR Section 100.6(b) of the Department of Education regulation implementing Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The requirements are also incorporated by reference in Department regulations implementing Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975.
